

No one benefits from Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air the propaganda documentary "Stolen Honor," commercial free, days before the election.

It's unethical, and a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation. Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest.

FCC rules should not permit this kind of abuse and unequal time. FEC rules, as I understand it, do not.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why, in the words of Free Press, "the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard."

Thank you.
